Italian wine classification

DOCG: The highest classification for Italian wines, introduced in 1980. It is used to ensure that a wine is controlled and follows a predetermined production scheme to receive the denomination. There are strict rules regarding the production of DOCG wines, monitoring yield limits, ripening of the grapes, vinification, procedures and specific aging.

DOC: A step below DOCG and created in 1963, quality control standards are less strict (but similar in style) than those applied to DOCG wines.

IGT classification was introduced in 1992, to allow a certain level of freedom to Italian winemakers. Before 1992, many wines did not qualify under the DOC or DOCG terms because they were made from grape varieties (or blends) not sanctioned under DOC or DOCG.

VdT is short for vino da tavola, wines that are approachable, suitable for everyday occasions.

Premium Wines by the s: served using Coravin

A Coravin Wine Preservation System is a device that allows wines to be enjoyed without opening the bottle. The Coravin system inserts a hollow needle through the cork allowing the desired amount of wine to be poured from the bottle. The system injects argon gas into the bottle which replaces the lost volume of wine and also pressurizes the bottle, preventing oxidation and maintaining the wine's freshness. Coravin ensures that each pour maintains the wine's quality, allowing you to enjoy premium wines over time.

Sardegna

Sardinia

Sardinia is the second largest island in the Mediterranean and is 200 kilometres off Italy's west coast. It is a unique region that has spent much of its recent history under Spanish rules. The Phoenicians were Sardinia's first foreign invaders and introduced winemaking to the island, but it was the Spanish, controlling the island from the 14th to 18th centuries, who contributed the most to Sardinia's wine production. The climate is Mediterranean, with short, mild, wet winters and long, hot, dry summers. With rugged mountains and dry plains, soil types vary from sandy clays in the south, the granite of Gallura in the north, to alluvial, gravelly soils around Oristano in the west. Today Sardinia is home to a unique range of grape varieties. Previously known for producing bulk, fortified and 'Meditazione' wines (including the famous Vernaccia di Oristano from the west coast), Sardinia is now known for its high-quality table wine from Vermentino, Cannonau and Carignano. Beyond these, lay an exciting range of lesser-known varieties such as Nuragus, Torbato, Monica and Bovale, adding diversity and interest to the Sardinian range.

Vini spumanti sardi

Sardinian sparkling wines

In Sardinia sparkling wines are produced from a variety of local and international grapes (if only in fairly small quantities) and can be dry or sweet. Made in both: 'Metodo Classico' (Champagne method) and 'Charmat' method (Tank).

Torbato

Of undoubtedly Spanish origin, it is in Sardinia that Torbato was able to reveal its full potential, specifically in the Alghero region characterized by a warm and dry climate and by calcareous-clayey soils, rich in sand and iron, which give the wines strength and minerality. Great with lobster Catalana, try with bottarga, sea urchin, seafood and spicy dishes.

Nasco

Grape of ancient origin whose name derives from the Latin 'muscus', to describe the characteristic musky aroma of the refined wines, Nasco was on the brink of extinction and saved by a group of zealous growers from the province of Cagliari which in time also managed to obtain the DOC - Nasco di Cagliari. It is mostly used for the production of dessert wines, although some dry version can be consumed with rich fish and white meat dishes.

Cantine Santadi

Terre Brune

Terre Brune is the flagship wine of Cantine Santadi and was created in 1984 by eminent Italian oenologist Giacomo Tachis. Tachis was brought to the winery to improve cultivation and winemaking techniques and begin production of premium style wines for Cantine Santadi. Tachis made important changes and was the first to age a Sardinian red wine in French barriques.

Carignano and Bovaleddu varietals are the base of Terre Brune wine and are grown as Alberello latino, a vine training system characterised by limited development of the plant and typical of warm and arid areas. The production of Terre Brune involves manual harvesting of grapes in multiple pickings between September and October. Fermentation and maceration last for about 15 days taking place in stainless steel tanks under controlled temperature. Malolactic fermentation follows to increase softness and the aromatic complexity of the wine. The wine is then aged in new French barriques for approximately 18 months and then rests for 12 months in bottle before being released.

Terre Brune is now recognised as one of the best wines in Sardinia and Italy.
